A Taste of John Lassetter – presented by Andrea Bingham

John Lassetter is an internationally renowned dressage trainer and rider. He studied at the Spanish Riding School in Vienna, Austria (the first visiting student to train there) and was subsequently invited to train at L'institut national d'equitation with the Cadre Noir in Saumur, France. A British Horse Society certified instructor (BHSI, FABRS), Mr. Lassetter's own training center is at Goodwood in Sussex, England.

He is a gifted instructor and trainer who travels extensively giving clinics in the United States and Canada. His distinctive training system methodically supple and strengthens horses while promoting harmony between horse and rider. His attention to detail and his ability to teach riders at any level have won him an enthusiastic following in the dressage community.

I have done numerous clinics with Mr. Lassetter and both my horse and I have enjoyed them immensely. I would like to share my experiences at this clinic.

Rider Profile –

Andrea began riding at an early age and as a teenager turned her focus to competitive dressage. The early years were spent under the watchful eye of Miss Violet Hopkins, who ensured a strong foundation in all her students. Moving to Toronto in the early 1970's Andrea continued her training with Colonel Graffe and Ed Rothkranz, improving her skills as a dressage rider. Since that time, Andrea has had the opportunity to train in England and Germany, as well as participate in clinics with such well-known professionals as:

George Theodorescu, Lars Petersen, Udo Lange, Robert Dover, John Lassetter and many others.

Andrea's accomplishments and involvements have included:

- Training and competing various horses throughout the levels of dressage
- Coaching students to numerous competitive championships and other achievements on the bronze, silver, gold and platinum show circuits
- Promoting dressage at a local level, through active involvement with Windsor/Essex CADORA
- Regularly working with Canadian Grand Prix rider and PanAm Games Silver Medalist Tom Dvorak
- 2010 Small Tour Champion at the Ontario Dressage Championships
